

Brad Alan Reek

Multimedia Producer

I have been creating websites for small business and professionals for over 20 years. I am experienced in all aspects of website development including design, production and maintenance. I am experienced with popular Content Management Systems including Wordpress, Joomla and Dreamweaver. I also have extensive experience developing HTML websites.

In addition, I have experience with image processing (such as Photoshop), copy writing and editing, SEO and email promotion. As a freelance agent I am available to quickly and efficiently produce, update or manage all aspects of website development.

I also offer a monthly Wordpress update service. This keeps the Wordpress core and all plugins up to date and will help to prevent hacking and spamming. This includes installing a comprehensive set of anti-malware and spam protection plugins and running an anti-malware scan each month.

As an accomplished graphic designer and desktop publisher, I can develop and produce any type of print media from simple to complex. I have worked in the advertising department of two international corporations as a media specialist producing everything from single page documents to 200 page catalogs. I have also provided multi-media support creating Power-point and video presentation for national sales meetings.

I offer complete video development and production services. I have experience in concept development, scripting and storyboarding, direction and post-production. I also have access to an experienced group of free-lance professionals, photographers, musicians and state-of-the-art post-production facilities.
